HOW MILLIONAIRE CLARENCE MACKAY TRAINS FOR HARD WORK OF HIS OFFICE.

Head of Postal Telegraph Company Spends Six Hours a Week in Bothner and Elmer's Gymnasium and Engages in Clever Boxing and Wrestling Bouts.

Here is a multi-millionaire who is in training. Clarence H. Mackay, head of the Postal Telegraph Company, is the man. He keeps in condition so that he can cope with the arduous duties of his office. As a boxer, wrestler or bag-puncher he is nearly as adept as he is in conducting his big business.

At Bothner & Elmer's select gymnasium, at No. 110 West Forty-second street, Mr. Mackay spends about six hours a week exercising. Nothing in the line of gymnasium work is too strenuous for him. When he goes about doing anything it is with the idea of doing it properly or letting it alone. Things done by halves, with him, as the old saying goes, are never done right, and so it is that when he enters the gymnasium to train he goes about it with an earnestness that is interesting.

Pulling at the weights, exercising with dumb-bells, working on the rowing machine are about the first things he does. There is nothing but hard work in doing that. In boxing, wrestling or bag-punching a lot of pleasure may be derived, but it is not pleasure the multi-millionaire is seeking, but that which will keep him physically fit to carry out all his duties in the business world.

With the dumb-bells and other paraphernalia laid aside, Mr. Mackay in a truly democratic air announces to George Bothner, one of the partners in the gymnasium and who bears the distinction of being the champion lightweight wrestler of the world:

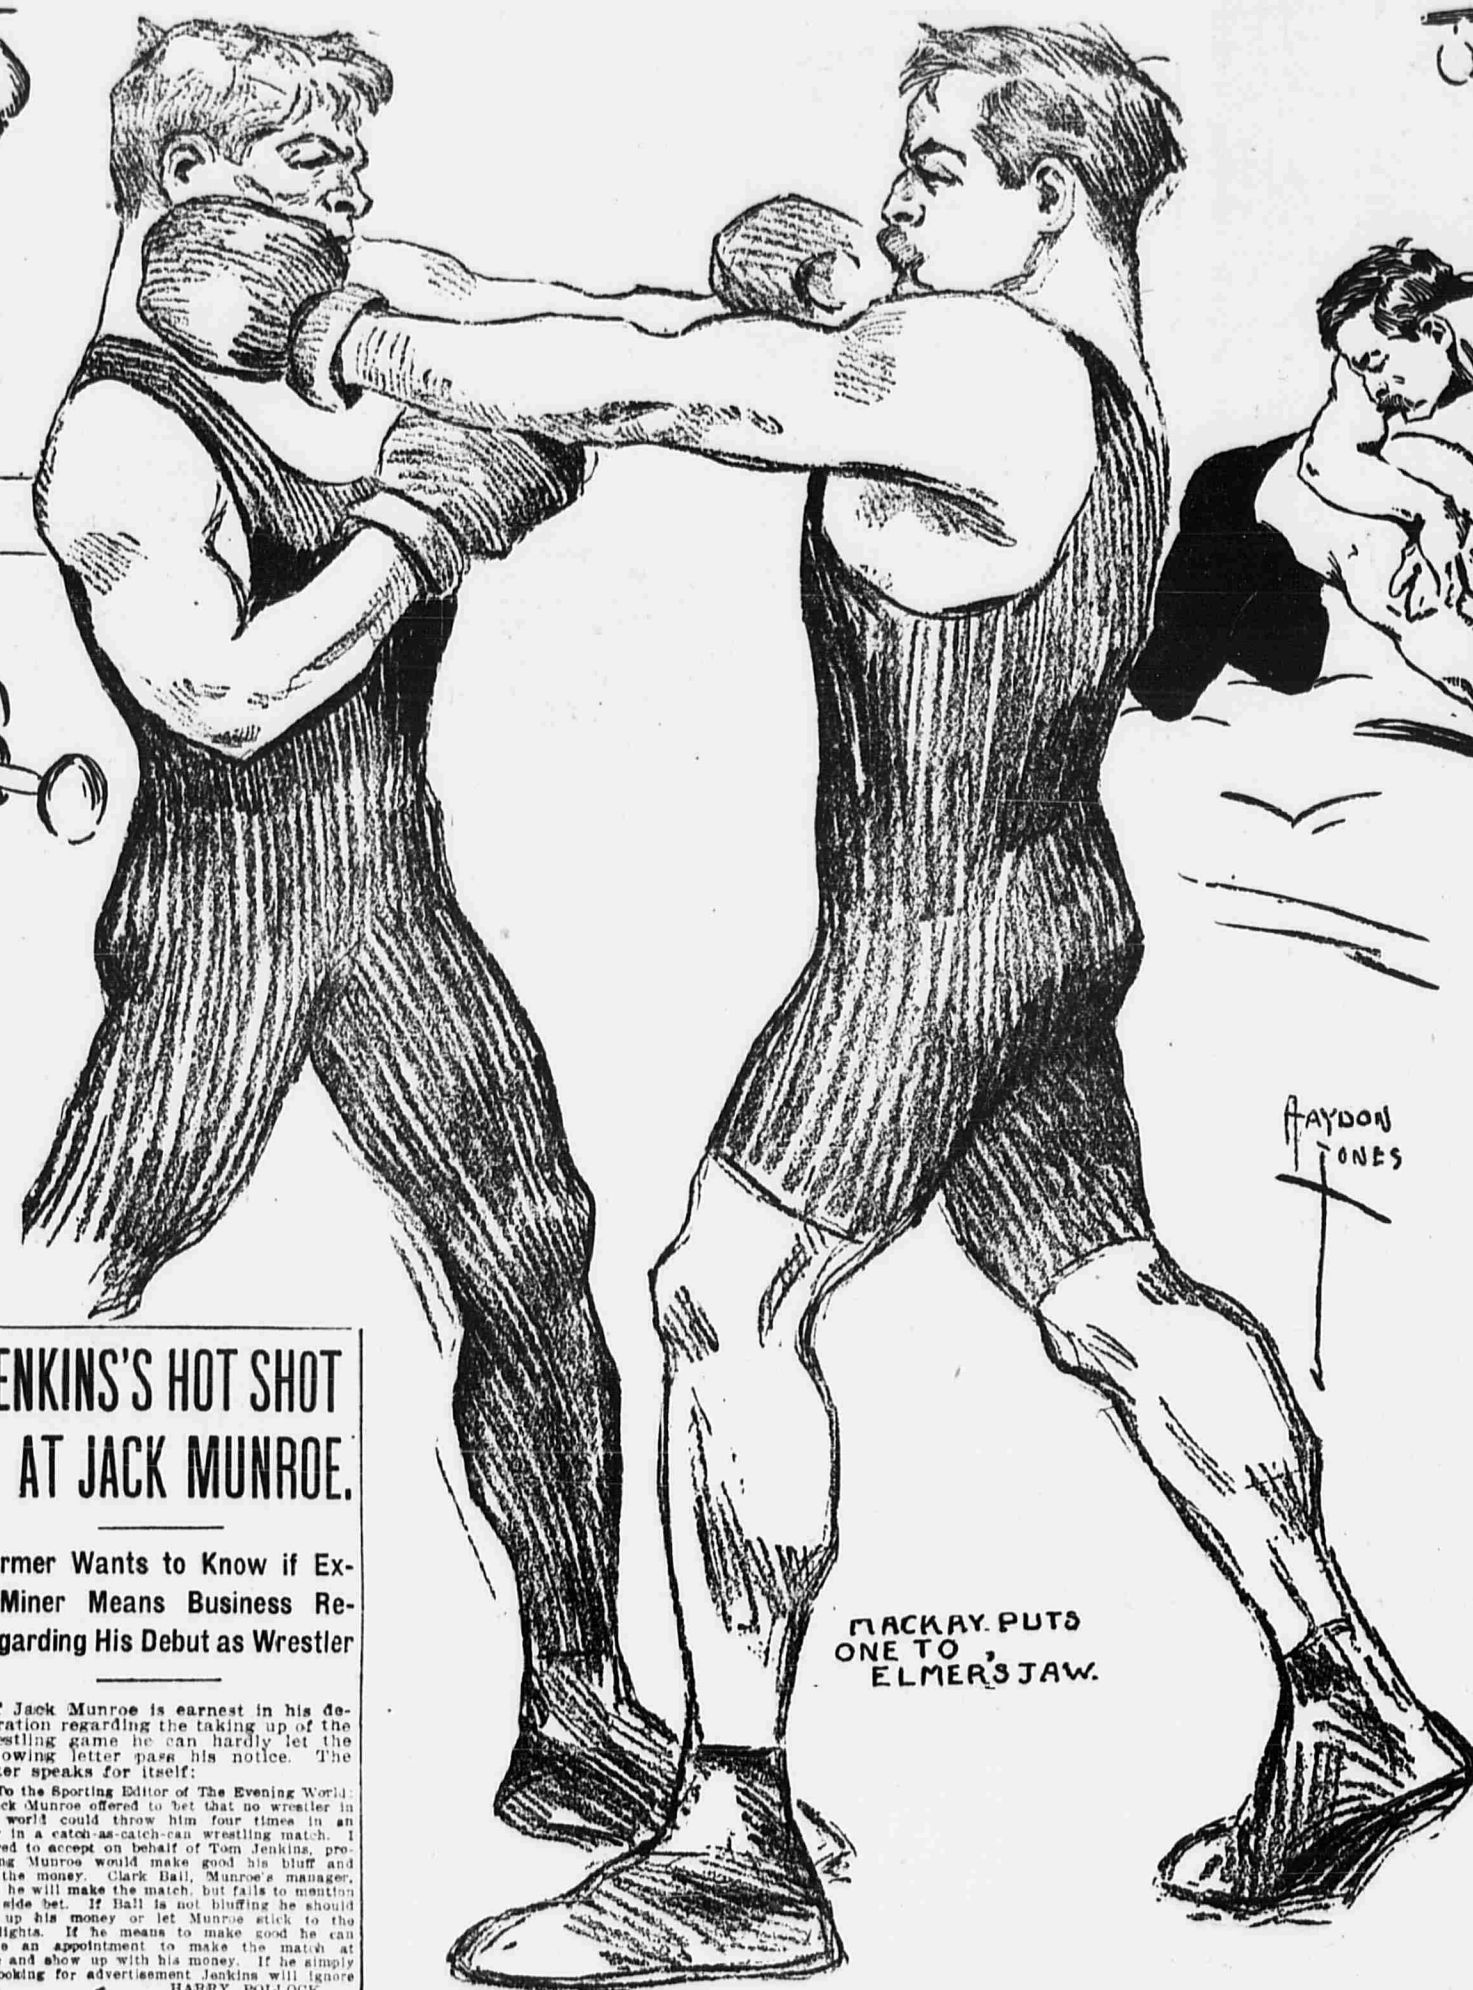

"Well, George, I am ready to take a fall out of you."

That means fifteen minutes on the mat. Mr. Mackay has grown exceedingly clever at that game, and with his advantage in weight he makes an interesting act-to with the champion.

After that work is over, Billy Elmer, as clever a boxer as ever pulled on a pair of boxing gloves, is kept busy side-stepping Mr. Mackay's swings, jabs and uppercuts in a boxing bout. It goes along for about fifteen minutes, too. The boxing game is not new to the millionaire. He has been a great admirer of the sport and never loses an opportunity to put on the gloves with some one. He is very clever, and in Elmer's mind he is the best amateur middle-weight in America at least, and possibly the world. He roughs it with Elmer in the bouts and looks for no apology when the instructor lands an unusually hard blow, nor does he offer one when he wallows a little harder than is expected in a gymnasium bout.

Bag-punching is what might be called Mr. Mackay's hobby. He leaves that for the last part of his work. It serves as dessert to the other good things he engages in earlier in the day. He takes a merry whirl at it, and to hear his tattoo against the ceiling is enough to know that Mr. Mackay has an eye that is good. The eye must be good to catch the bounding ball on its return, and that is what the millionaire does.

And such is the work of a millionaire in training. It takes his mind off his business affairs for the time being, and when he goes about them again it is with as clear a mind as on the day when he first set to work about them.

JENKINS'S HOT SHOT AT JACK MUNROE.

Former Wants to Know if Examiner Means Business Regarding His Debut as Wrestler

If Jack Munroe is earnest in his declaration regarding the taking up of the wrestling game he can hardly let the following letter pass his notice. The letter speaks for itself:

Dear Mr. Editor of The Evening World:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th inst. offering to accept on behalf of Tom Jenkins, providing Munroe would make good his bluff and bet the money. Jack Ball, Munroe's manager, says he will make the match, but fails to mention the side bet. If Ball is not willing he should put up his money or let Munroe stick to the footlights. If he means to make good he can make an appointment to make the match at once and show up with his money. If he simply is looking for advertisement Jenkins will ignore him.

FIGHTERS TUNING UP VOCAL ORGANS

When Jeffries Comes to Town in About Two Weeks They All Expect to Say Something.

Within the next two weeks there will probably be more fight talk by the big heavy-weights heard. Champion Jim Jeffries will be the leader in it. He is booked to arrive in town by that time, and of course there is hardly a fighter who will lose the opportunity to secure a little cheap notoriety by posting a forfeit and issuing a challenge to fight the big brawler. Jeffries says he will be ready to take fight with any of the heavy-weights when he gets here. The first fighter who will go after Jeffries will be Jim Corbett. The latter says he has been training since last June for a battle with the champion, and that he intends to see Jeffries personally and demand the match.

May Meet Corbett First.

It is probable that a match will be arranged quickly between Jeffries and Corbett. There is no reason why they should not get together and agree to fight. If a match is not arranged it will not be the fault of Corbett. The latter is willing to fight Jeffries to a finish, which was the provision named by the champion when Corbett first challenged.

Is Nevada Offer a Bluff?

The offer made by the Tonopah (Nev.) A. C. of a $25,000 purse for a finish fight between Jeffries and Corbett appears to be a bluff. According to a report Tonopah has no athletes club, Jeffries, in a telegram to The Evening World to-day, said: "I know nothing of the Nevada offer, and must be consulted directly. Will then take offer under consideration."

Herman Ready with Offer.

Although Jack Herman, matchmaker of the International A. C., of Fort Erie, Can., stated recently that he would withdraw his offer of a $25,000 purse for a fight between Corbett and Jeffries, he is ready to renew it, and the chances are he will come to this city with a certified check for $25,000 when Jeffries arrives here and agree to hold the bout during the latter part of June.

O'Brien Ready for Fight.

"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, the middle-weight, who has not fought since the second week in January owing to one of his hands being broken, will be seen in the ring again in three weeks. O'Brien has been matched to fight Jim Jeffries, the California heavy-weight, in a bout before the Alhambra (Pa.) A. C. during the early part of next month. O'Brien has been boxing every day for a week at a gymnasium in Philadelphia and says his hand is all right again.

Duane's Next Bout.

Danny Duane, the east side light-weight, who defeated Billy Gardner and Del Hawkins, the California fighter, in Boston, recently, will be seen in another bout in that city. Mike Schmalzer, the welter-weight fighter, of Boston, in a bout before the Alhambra (Pa.) A. C. during the early part of next month. The men are clever, aggressive fighters and stiff punchers. If Duane defeats Sullivan he will be matched with Champion Joe Gans.

Fights in Louisville.

Boxing bouts are being held in Louisville again in spite of the fact that the authorities of the city refused to allow the Corbett-McGovern bout to be held there a few months ago. During the last two months three boxing shows have been held. The latest one took place last night between Eugene Benson, of Cincinnati, and George Schuch, of Louisville. The latter was awarded the decision by a majority of the thirty-eight round on a foul. Benson had all the best of the bout and would have beaten Schuch.

Many Will See McCoy Fight.

A large crowd of sporting men from this city will go to Philadelphia on Monday night to see the six-round bout between "Kid" McCoy and Jack McCormick, the Philadelphia heavy-weight, which is to be decided before the Washington Sporting Club. Some of the most prominent men who will make the trip are George Condit, Eddie Burke, many of the Philadelphia sportsmen.

Chapelle, Jim Young, Jimmy Wakely, Johnny Condit, Dick Bernard, Sam Harris and George Grant. The delegation will go with McCoy on the 4:15 o'clock train.

Ryan Going Abroad.

Tommy Ryan, the middle-weight champion, has decided to make another trip to England this summer. While there he will in all probability be matched to meet Jack Palmer, the English middle-weight champion, for a side bet of $2,500 and the largest purse offered by any club in England. Ryan will accommodate Palmer with a fight if the National Sporting Club, of London, hangs up a purse. Matchmaker Bettinson will offer the men a $3,000 purse.

Five Fights for Monday.

There are five fights slated to be fought on Monday night. "Kid" McCoy will meet Jack McCormick in Philadelphia; Matty Mathews will clash with Tom Coughlin for ten rounds before the Alhambra A. C.; George Dixon will box George Proctor a twenty-round bout in England; Jimmy Briggs and Austin Rice will box a twelve-round bout in Boston, and Chester Goodwin, of Boston, will meet Tommy Feltz in a ten-round bout before the Hoffman A. C., of Boston.

Maynard Is Confident.

Billy Maynard, the east side feather-weight, is so confident he will beat Terry McGovern when he meets him before the Penn Art A. C., of Philadelphia, on Wednesday night that he has quietly tipped off his friends in this city to let whatever money they can get down on him. Maynard is training like a beaver in Philadelphia for the contest and is in excellent shape.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM TO COME TO AMERICA.

Likely to Sail for Here from England in April.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The visit of the American polo team to Great Britain last year will probably result in a return trip of a British team to the United States during the coming summer. J. M. Waterbury, Jr., of the American team, who visited England last year, has been asked to visit America, through Mr. Buckmaster, of the English poloists, who competed at Hurlingham last year. It is probable that a strong English team will sail for the United States next April.

GARDEN NOW LIKE A DENSE FOREST.

Transformation Due to Annual Sportsmen's Show, Which Begins There This Morning.

The Sportsmen's Show will open its fifth annual exhibition at Madison Square Garden this morning. The general arrangement will be that of a large camp, with nearly one hundred guides in attendance from the Province of Quebec, New Brunswick, Maine, the Adirondacks, the Rocky Mountains, Long Island, Virginia and the wild wolf shooting districts along the Atlantic Coast. Log cabins, "lean-tos" and hunters' "shacks" will be grouped about the arena, the centre of which will be given up to an island surrounded by a mountain trout stream.

The leading entertainment feature will be the Cantata of "Hawthorne," as it has been called by the composer, Frederic R. Burton, "Songs of the Woods." About one hundred and fifty persons will take part in its production, including the chorus of sixty voices, some thirty or more Ojibway Indians from the reservation of the Canadian shore of Lake Huron, and a symphony concert orchestra of forty-five pieces. Rehearsal and rifle tournaments will be held as heretofore.

SUBSCRIPTIONS POUR IN FOR "MACON'S" BENEFIT.

THREE TIED IN BILLIARD MATCH

Vignaux Defeated Cure and International Championship Will Be Played Off Next Week.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—Louis Cure, the billiard player of this country, who was booked on as the probable winner of the international billiard tournament on win progress here, suffered his first defeat of the tourney last night. He was beaten by Vignaux, a countryman, in twenty-one innings by a score of 500 points to 485.

Vignaux's victory over Cure upsets the supposed walk-over for the tournament which it was supposed the latter would have. The defeat makes a tie in the tournament, Vignaux, Cure and Sutton, the American player, having each won two games and lost one.

A final series will be played next week, beginning on Wednesday and ending on Friday evening.

TOURNAMENTS FOR MIAMI CLUB MEMBERS.

John Skelly, President of the Miami Democratic Club, of the Thirty-second Assembly District, of which Senator James J. Frawley is leader, has arranged a checkers, pool, pinochle and progressive euchre tournament to be held at the club-house, No. 1000 Lexington avenue.

Mr. Skelly has appointed the following members to referee the games: Checkers—Wednesday evening, Feb. 25, Peter Burns, of Progressive Euchre—Thursday evening, Feb. 26, D. N. Shea. Pinochle—Friday evening, Feb. 27, Nat Knutson, of Progressive. Pool—Saturday night, beginning March 2, John F. McLean. Much credit has been given Mr. Skelly by the members of the club for arranging the tournament.

Forest of Vallombrosa on Fire.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—According to an agency despatch from Florence the Forest of Vallombrosa is on fire. The Villa Medici has been destroyed.

The Forest of Vallombrosa is in a valley in the Apennines, famous for its shade trees. An ancient abbey is in its midst, founded in the tenth century. The present buildings date from the seventeenth century.

BOWLERS END THIRD WEEK'S GAMES IN EVENING WORLD'S BIG TOURNEY.

LAST NIGHT'S HIGH SCORES
Atlantics, Brooklyn.....	853
Empire City, city.....	878
Linwoods, city.....	899

The good bowling and the high scores of Thursday night caused another big crowd to appear last night to see the final games of the three weeks' bowling in The Evening World Tournament at Amann & Triess's alleys. Amann & Triess's alleys, Fifty-fourth street and Third avenue. Three games were scheduled. The Ivy Leafs and the Atlantics, two Brooklyn fives, were to get together. The former team had all along declared that it would be one of the contestants in the final fifteen games for the big prize.

The only out-of-town team scheduled to roll was the Germania Club, from Stapleton, S. I., and it was on hand to meet the team representing the local Custom-House. The other contest was between the Empire City five and the Linwoods, two city teams.

Every one expected that the Ivy Leafs would wind up the week in a blaze of glory, and many prominent bowlers from Manhattan and Brooklyn were on hand to watch the match. It was the first game that proved the excellent one. The Custom-House boys and the Germania, from Staten Island, put up the closest-fought contest yet so far, and it was not until the score had counted up that the spectators knew who won. There was only four pins difference at the end. That was enough to satisfy the local team and they had quite a celebration afterward.

Denise, the Germania's anchor, was not equal to the hot finish. His 150 score was very poor rolling and his team should have won without any trouble. Lodge, of the Custom-Houses, was high man with 182.

Good Scores in Second Game.

The second game, between the Empire City and the Linwoods, saw some good scoring and another tight fit at the end. The Empire five looked winners in the beginning, but in the last few frames their rivals got their eyes on the head pin and managed to get in the lead. Gross did excellent work for the Empire and scored an even 200. The other men on the team did well except Keeler, who rolled only 139.

The Linwoods' men bowled steadily,

Another Immense Crowd Was Present at Amann & Triess's Alleys Last Night, but Were Disappointed When Ivy Leafs, of Brooklyn, Failed to Roll as Good as Was Expected of Them.

and while Kennedy's high score was three less than Gross's the lowest man on the team was Haldedy with 170. The final score was 899 for the Linwoods and 878 for the Empire City.

The Linwoods tried hard to make it a 200 game in the last frame.

The Ivy Leafs did not come up to expectations in the last game and were badly beaten by the other Brooklyn five, the Atlantics.

The Ivy Leafs never had a chance after the first ball was rolled. The Atlantics took the lead in the first frame and held it.

Ivy Leafs in Bad Form.

Mills, the Ivy Leaf anchor, was out of form and only rolled 139. J. Carthy, the high man, only had 180. Hill, of the Atlantics, was high man of the night, with 201. The final score was: Ivy Leaf, 782; Atlantics, 853.

First Game.

Custom-House, city—Lodge, 183; Dewey, 162; Hawkins, 148; Neuman, 146; Reynolds, 121. Total, 800.

There will be no games to-night or Monday, but an excellent schedule has been arranged for next week. The complete schedule for the week will be published in The Evening World Monday.

Consideration, the $15,000 pearly in "Jack" Toyner's stable, is the cynosure of trainers' eyes when he trots and canters around the Sheepshead Bay track. Many acute judges of horsehood do not fancy his conformation. They say that he is growing wedge-shaped and is too "gaudling" in his action to become a great racehorse. He will race in the colors of Sidney Pagel, "Orange, white and cap."
